

Using the new-if will result in infinite recursion since it will use applicative order evaluation and will try to evaluate both the then-clause and else-clause regardless of what the predicate evaluates to. In this case the procedure will keep calling the sqr-iter procedure in the else-clause recursively.